British Dark Melodic Metal hailing from Milton Keynes – Est. 2015

Born of a passion to create dark and melodic music, Chasing Ghosts are a British Dark Melodic Metal band who have carved a unique sound, with clean vocals and emotive lyrics. Their songs evoke emotions of fear, sadness, loss and regret, entwined within each doom laden guitar riff, that engage and consume their listeners and live audiences alike.

The band are Nelson Cancini (Vocals), Lee Brueton (Bass/Synth), Ashley Clark (Rhythm Guitar), Harry Mitten (Lead Guitar) and Richard Still (Drums), brought together with the sole purpose to produce honest, emotional and uncompromising music.

Their first EP release in 2016 featured the track 'Fallen From Grace', which was recorded by 'Enter Shikari' engineer Tim Morris and aired on over 90 radio stations worldwide. This became the band's first official video featuring Pixie Le Knot, actress and contortionist from 'Game of Thrones' and 'The Devil Inside'. The video debuted on 'Amp'd TV', hosted by Kerrang's very own Johnny Doom.

Chasing Ghosts released their debut album 'These Hollow Gods' through Mighty Music, Denmark's premier rock and metal label in February 2018. The band received many radio plays and exceptional magazine reviews internationally, including Kerrang, Metal Hammer, Total Rock, Classic Rock, Fireworks, Powerplay, Rock Hard, Rock Tribune and Sweden Rock to name a few.

The band have played many prestigious venues and festivals in the UK and Europe, including 'Nocturne Fest' in Copenhagen, which coincided with the release of their album 'These Hollow Gods' as they shared the stage with established doom bands Abyssic and October Tide (ex- Katatonia members).

Chasing Ghosts in recent months have been working with producer Jaime Gomez Arellano (Paradise Lost, Ghosts, Cathedral, Myrkur) on their new EP 'Bring Me Suffering', which is due for release on 12th June 2020, accompanied and preceded by their title-track video and single release, coming 22nd May 2020. The EP will see the union of haunting female harmonies (featuring Meghan Pettitt ex Eden House) and natural sombre strings, resulting in an evolution of all the darker elements in Chasing Ghosts' already present sound. Each individual track has been written to ignite raw and pure emotions.
